

Bridging Connections

TEEG 2022 ANNUAL REPORT

Why a Bridge?

When my son was three, someone asked him what his grandfather did at work. My father, a college president, was amused by Dylan's confident reply, "He builds bridges."

Through the eyes of a child, I saw the essence of my father's work was connecting students to opportunities and extending resources to serve the community. Building bridges also describes the work we do at TEEG.

The similarities are endless. Bridges provide a safe passage between where we are and where we want to be as solid structures with fixed foundations or flexible pathways that adjust to changing circumstances, they span time and distance to extend connections and join forces.

At TEEG, our staff members are keystone supports, grounded and strong. Our board members are the arches that allow us to reach deeper into the communities we serve. And, like all essential infrastructure that requires upkeep, TEEG bridges are maintained through the generosity of volunteers and donors.

Everyone has a place as a builder, traveler, or guide. As you read Bridging Connections, where do you fit in? We welcome you to join us in our mission to make a difference.

With hope and gratitude,

Executive Director

Northeast Connecticut Bridge Builders

The most treacherous moments in life are when we don't know how to safely take the next step. As a lover of the outdoors and avid hiker, I know this feeling from encountering hazards on remote trails. Raging, overflowing streams are impassable divides with wide gaps and deep chasms. If there is no obvious way to safely cross, it stops you in your tracks.

Thankfully, trail workers and volunteers build bridges to safely guide hikers over the divide. Footbridges and steppingstone crossings help overcome obstacles that would otherwise be insurmountable.

At TEEG, everyone is a bridge builder.

I am proud to be part of a team of passionate board members supporting the dedicated and resourceful TEEG staff led by Executive Director, Anne Miller. Our organization couldn't span the gaps in life without our army of volunteers donating their time and talents. TEEG also is blessed to have strong community support. Together, these structures allow our agency to overcome obstacles, connect resources, and promote a better future for all.

Creating Pathways to Partner Agencies

Connecting people to sources of support available in our community can be challenging. We often are dismayed to discover that a struggling local family did not know where to turn. Our Back to School and Holiday Giving programs provide opportunities to share this vital information.

TEEG staff provide connections to the best available help, be it within our agency or by bridging families to another agency. Our partnership with the Connecticut Humane Society helps people keep their pets healthy. Northeast Opportunities for Wellness helps us to connect our youth to activities that provide recreation and social interaction.

Our fall and spring festivals hosted in North Grosvenordale are fun events designed to connect families with various solutions in one place. Volunteer groups, TEEG program facilitators, and partner agencies staff booths with activities and information offering pathways between resources.

Families who attended in the fall were able to choose Halloween costumes, and in the spring, they received fun summer footwear. "Touch a Truck" activities and a bike safety rally were highlights for many children. Community providers also networked with each other, strengthening the service infrastructure in our area.

Assisting Seniors in Crossing Gaps

Our community came together during the pandemic in ways that brought focus to underserved needs. Many of our area seniors did not see as much support as other groups did. Health issues kept them isolated longer than the rest of the population, financial assistance was not as robust, and seniors' ability to communicate was hindered by lack of technological understanding and availability.

Over the past year, TEEG encountered seniors who had no heat, who were struggling with food security, and seniors whose homes needed work to keep them safe and warm. We also assisted seniors who found themselves homeless.

It is hard to believe that our neighbors, who worked so hard, faced these struggles in our own community. TEEG staff recognized this and worked to bridge the support gap in several ways, including providing one-on-one counseling, helping them to digitally navigate complex systems, providing needed food and personal care items not covered by other programs, providing volunteers to help with home maintenance, and advocating to get seniors housed.

extending your hand."

Offering Supports to Help Neighbors in Need

Local businesses are key in our ability to provide programs and support which helps us care for all residents. We are touched when a group reaches out to help fund an existing program or to create a new one when a need arises. Many entities that stepped up over the past year are included in our donor lists, and each one represents a story that will touch your heart and inspire you. Below is just one example of the many hands that reached out to connect and strengthen our ability to help.

When the Town of Pomfret needed someone to run their Food Market, TEEG rallied our volunteers to quickly establish our SWAP (Serving Wellness at Pantries) model at the town's location, offering healthy and delicious food choices to visitors. The only concern was, how would we fit another food distribution site into our budget? Enter The Pomfret Proprietors!

Local business set to work building a bridge for food and cash donations by organizing food drives on the first Saturday of each month. People contribute fresh and frozen foods in TEEG's onsite refrigerator and freezer, and Pomfret Proprietors take care of the details, lightening the load for a grateful TEEG staff. This year, the January drive fell on New Year's Day. The holiday and the cold did not discourage our volunteers and the generosity of the community filled our shelves. This dedicated support has been the solution, but it is no surprise, as that is how we roll here in the northeast corner of Connecticut!

"There are times in our lives when we could use a little help, and other times when we are given the chance to be that help for someone else..."

Connecting Families and Building Skills

For many years, TEEG has worked with the Connecticut Department of Children and Families to offer programs designed to teach families new ways to enjoy time together. It is a bridges and ladders approach to enriching lives by finding common ground and revealing hidden interests. We are proud to be a platform to help families learn and grow together.

In the summer of 2021, a TEEG course in making and preserving jam inspired two brothers, who attended with their mother. They applied what they learned in our test kitchen to make their first batch of homemade jam and later entered it at the Woodstock Fair. The brothers each won blue ribbons for their collaboration along with a well-deserved sense of pride.

...It really doesn't matter where you are right now. What matters is that you remember we are stronger together, and taking a hand is just as important as offering one."

– PAUL BOYNTON

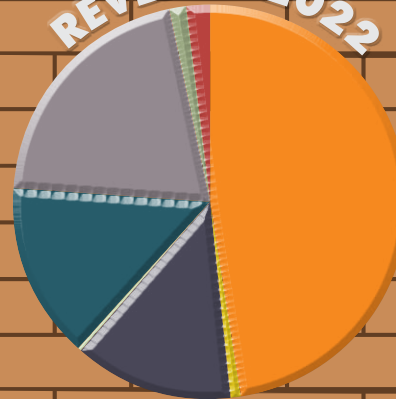

Weaving a Structure of Financial Support

The fiduciary structure that allows TEEG to do the work we love is like a sturdy rope bridge; flexible yet strong, to withstand the winds of change while spanning the deepest economic chasms.

TEEG leadership engages foundations, businesses, state and local governments, food banks, and the community to weave strong cables with strands of individual giving to support people in need and guide them to secure pathways and fiscal stability.

An Anchor to the Future

Beneath the biggest bridges, pilings driven deep in the ground create a rock-solid base of support. In the same way the TEEG Endowment provides deep and lasting support for our agency. Contributions are invested with careful oversight for long-term growth to ensure we will always be here to serve the needs of our neighbors in Northeast Connecticut.

Lifting Together

Modern bridge architecture is nothing short of amazing. The tremendous weight of daily traffic is held aloft by expertly assembled beams and girders. For many in our community, when the weight of the pandemic, inflation, and other hardships are too much to bear, the bridge builders of TEEG help to lighten the load.

We are deeply grateful for the level of giving that we witnessed during the 2021/2022 fiscal year. It is a reminder of our corner of Connecticut's kind and caring nature. Our donors also understand that need knows no season. The generosity received throughout the year is a testament to our donors' trust in us to care for the community.

We are grateful to the following donors for contributing to and supporting our work over the past year. The following lists recognize donors who have made financial contributions to TEEG. We have made every attempt to acknowledge everyone while respecting the anonymity of those who have asked, and sincerely hope we have not left anyone out.
